

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mettler Toledo — NA Hires Head of Finance

Columbus, OH – January 2010: We are pleased to announce the completion of the Head of Finance search for Mettler Toledo — North America. Mettler Toledo International specializes in the area of precision instruments for use in laboratory, industrial and food retailing and has their North American headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

Through our proprietary process of identification, assessment and delivery, and our past relationship with Mettler Toledo, we were able to deliver Matt Bendick as their new Head of Finance. In this position, Matt will have senior financial responsibility for the US sales and service organization, the largest market organization within the company. Reporting to the General Manager, North American Market Organizations, Matt will play a key role in creating a bridge to the future of the organization as they begin a global convergence to SAP with the first units going live this quarter.

Matt spent the last several years as Director of Finance and Controller of the Nuclear Medicine Division of Philips Healthcare. His career in finance began with ExxonMobile Corporation's management training program and during his eleven year career there he honed his management skills and proved himself a strategic business leader. Matt received his MBA from Washington University and his BBA from Baylor University.
